

What Would Noah Do?

As evangelical Christian scholars and scientists, we see a most profound threat to the integrity of God's creation in the destruction of endangered species and their God-given habitats.

Weakening the Endangered Species Act does not serve the common good and undermines our efforts to be faithful stewards. Turning away from care for God's creation in order to promote self-interest shifts seeking the kingdom of God out of its appropriate and necessary first place. — Statement of the Academy of Evangelical Scientists and Ethicists on Protecting the Endangered Species Act, September 2005.
